

BRISKMAN & BINION, P.C.

Working With You ...

DONALD BRISKMAN AND MACK BINION, PREVIOUSLY partners in large firms, formed Briskman & Binion, P.C. in 1988. The firm confines its practice to litigation and its lawyers endeavor to resolve their clients' disputes in the most efficient manner. To that end, if it is in the client's interests, Briskman & Binion's definition of litigation includes trial. Collectively, the firm's lawyers have tried hundreds of cases in federal and state courts.

In these difficult economic times, the firm's philosophy and fundamental approach is particularly important. The firm's lawyers are experienced, do not practice under the specter of billable hour quotas and continually work with the client to control costs. The firm recognizes that while cases may be similar, none are identical; thus litigation plans are formulated at the outset, continually evaluated and revised. The firm's litigation plans include appropriate staffing of each case, with the recognition that "teams" can be expensive. The firm's cases range from general litigation and defense of personal injury cases to complex business disputes and white collar criminal cases. Every client, from the multinational corporation to the individual, receives full attention and consideration consistent with this philosophy.

Through the firm's approach and its attorney's prominence in professional, political, charitable and community affairs, Briskman & Binion, P.C. is respected across Alabama and the Southeast as a proven and diverse litigation firm. A substantial part of the firm's practice consists of referrals from other lawyers, reflecting its reputation for handling matters competently, professionally, timely and economically. Briskman & Binion, P.C. is listed in The Bar Register of Preeminent Lawyers and has enjoyed the Martindale-Hubbell® AV rating since its founding.
