FOR 30 YEARS, STEIN, SPERLING, BENNETT, DE JONG, DRISCOLL & GREENFEIG, P.C. has provided its clients with the high quality service and unsurpassed dedication they have come to expect. Stein Sperling wishes to congratulate its 15 attorneys named to the 2009 Maryland Super Lawyers[®] and Rising Stars lists: Millard Bennett, David De Jong, David Driscoll, Stuart Greenfeig, Ann Jakabcin, Jeffrey Schwaber, Darcy Shoop, Donald Sperling, Paul Stein, Brian Della Rocca, Monica Harms, Ivonne Lindley, Darla McClure, Deanna Peters and Karen Shapiro.

The business law group, which includes Millard Bennett, Donald Sperling, Darla McClure and Karen Shapiro, works as a team, combining their unique experience and knowledge of business with practical considerations to satisfy clients' particular needs. These areas of expertise include business formation and organization, conflicts among owners, transition of business ownership interests and business controversy litigation.

The civil litigation group, which includes Jeffrey Schwaber and Deanna Peters, is available to represent clients through the litigation process. From complex business controversies to contested real estate and probate matters, they utilize practical and aggressive litigation strategies to attain the best resolutions for their clients.

The tax law group, which includes David De Jong, assists clients in minimizing federal and state taxes through business and personal tax planning and represents clients when necessary in dealing with federal and state tax authorities.

Be it transitioning a family business from one generation to the next, implementing tax saving strategies or updating an estate plan due to changes associated with the passing of time, the estate planning and probate group, which includes Ann Jakabcin and Brian Della Rocca, helps to design plans that meet clients' personal and professional goals.

Faced with the sensitive issues of marriage dissolution and custody, the family law group, which includes Paul Stein, Stuart Greenfeig, Darcy Shoop and Monica Harms, understands the personal and financial considerations associated with family matters. They provide the strategic thinking necessary to guide clients through divorce, separation, custody, child support, property resolution, and pre- and post-nuptial agreements.

The criminal law group, which includes Paul Stein and David Driscoll, understands that bad things can happen to good people. When these things do happen, clients need high quality representation in a discreet fashion. The criminal defense team brings extensive experience to the defense of criminal charges including DUI/DWI, drug offenses and other serious felony and misdemeanor charges.

The personal injury group, which includes Ivonne Lindley, represents individuals who were injured due to no fault of their own. The group helps clients navigate the complex insurance maze and obtain the compensation they rightfully deserve.
